Finding the Spiritual Heart of Earthcare

Are you concerned about the strange weather patterns we're experiencing? Do you worry that we are depleting natural resources and destroying native landscapes without a second thought? If so, Finding the Spiritual Heart of Earthcare can help you bring your sense of concern for our planet into conversation with your own deep, loving source of wisdom, helping you discover actions you personally can take to add to the life, connection, love, and nurturance in our world. Along the way, you can consider your gifts in light of what you feel the world needs today and discover how your own journey connects with the Earth's call for care. Be part of the loving change for a healthy planet.
